RANCH MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

FROM THE PRESIDENT, JEFF MITCHELL '02

(806)680-4325 jmitchell@tootntotum.com

Merry Christmas, Alumni!

I hope this letter finds everyone healthy, happy, and surviving the sometimes hectic holiday season. It is hard to believe that we are already at the end of the first semester of this year!

This first semester comes to an end after this week's finals and it has been one for the books. This small, but mighty class is a force to be reckoned with and has worked extremely hard to balance the fluid situation that Covid has created. To say that I am proud of this group of young men and women is an understatement. I tip my hat to them.

The last year and a half has brought great collaborations and much needed conversations about our Ranch Management program and the continuing efforts to keep everything moving in a positive direction. The Alumni Committee, Board of Directors, and TCURM Personnel have worked tirelessly to organize, plan, and finally execute an update for our Alumni as a whole.

Our Alumni Executive Committee has worked hard to make this Alumni Association the best it can be. I truly believe we are on a path to continue our successes and continue to grow our Alumni Association to be the strongest it has ever been.

In order for us to continue on this path, I must reiterate the importance of participation. Our Annual Alumni Meeting is scheduled for Saturday, January 22nd with the Class Agents meeting being held the night before (January 21). It is vital to have as many Class Agents and Alumni attend these meetings as possible due to important discussions, voting, and business that needs to be conducted.

Please make every effort to attend this event. We are excited for a great weekend highlighting insight into the successful collaborations happening between TCU, TCURM, & the TCU Institute of RM.

I look forward to seeing you all in January and can only hope for a "packed house." Many Blessings to you and your families during this Holiday Season. Thank you for allowing me to serve in this position.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

TCURM Internships

Internships are a vital part of the future of the TCU Ranch Management Program. Whether the potential student was born and raised on a ranch or they found their love for ranching later in their educational career, working on different types of ranches can be critical to the success of a student in the TCU Ranch Management Program. There is a direct correlation between prior experience level and academic success of students while in the program. The Ranch Management Alumni Board has worked very hard to identify how the program could improve the vetting process of incoming RM students. One of the Board's suggestions is to STRONGLY ENCOURAGE incoming students to have a minimum of two separate internships prior to entering the program. This would definitely expand the knowledge level of the students prior to entering the program and greatly increase the student's success of employment after graduation.

As the program expands its recruiting efforts to a wider variety of students from different avenues, the need for internships is increasing. The term "internship" should not imply beginner level of skills. Many students that show interest in the program can ride and perform higher-level skills, but need involvement in other segments of the industry. Many students need exposure to the same segment of the industry in different geographical regions of the country.

A group of alumni in the Coastal region comprised of 4 ranches rotate 3 or 4 interns introducing them to different management styles. This group has been doing this for a couple of years now and it has been very beneficial to our students. They have also helped with the vetting process of these interns to determine if the program is a good fit for them. Some applicants get great recommendations and some are advised to get more experience. Matt McLennan and Chad McCormick have provided many feedyard internships prior to coming, and after graduation, to students that want to learn the feeding side of the business. This has served a great void of knowledge for individuals that have never been around a feedyard.

We need more alumni to engage in the internship process. This is your chance to support future RM alumni and complete summer projects that never seem to get done. Please contact me with questions or concerns. I currently have a list of 5 to 6 students that need an internship. I try to start making these connections in January and get confirmation of placement February-March. Send me an email with your contact information and a brief explanation of your preferred intern's qualifications. After you and I communicate, I will send the interns your contact information and you guys work out the details.

Thanks for your participation and have a blessed holiday season.

TCU RM Reflections: 1) RM prepared me to evaluate break-even points and the financial reasoning of the projects loaned to the ministry, and evaluate the feasibility and analyze the economic development of the projects and how it is developed in the country. 2) Advice to students: take advantage of the experience of visiting farms, operations, companies with real examples, on how to solve day-to-day situations; take advantage of the debates and talks that take place after each field trip; and take advantage of the experience of the teachers, TCU RM alumni, and contacts associated w/TCU RM.

Name: Ashley House '16

Current Employer: Washington Cattlemen's Association

Job Position/Title: Chief Executive Officer (CEO)

Job Duties/Responsibilities: Administer the directives of the WCA who mission is to protect and grow the cattle industry in the state of Washington. I'm a lobbyist, an event planner, a fundraiser, membership liaison, and everything in between!

TCU RM Reflection: The thing about our industry that is required to be successful is to know a little bit about everything—production, finance, international trade, animal health, management, conservation, leadership, etc. TCU RM gives you a comprehensive background in most of those areas, and there's not another program out there that is equal to us in what you gain. It's been invaluable for my career.

Prior Experience/Education: I have a BA from TCU in History and have worked for TSCRA, Lone Star Ag Credit, and Texas Agricultural Land Trust prior to moving to Washington.

Other: I can't thank Jesse Womack and Mr. Geider enough for inviting me to be involved with TCU Institute of Ranch Management's work in Scotland with the James Hutton Institute. The international perspective has been wholly enriching and importantly informative as a policy developer; I'm looking forward to the collaboration between our two constituencies.
